Question 19Essay

What do you like about this instructor's teaching methods?

He is very thorough in his instruction grasping all of the material and applying it to our work. He goes above and beyond to supply us with up to date material and relates everything to what is going on in the world.
I loved how I was able to establish my own gameplan for this class in terms of my field placement. I also liked the fact that Dr. Bryan had requirements for other chapter assignments. This made me aware as a student if I was taking in the information that I was learning in the book.
Mr. Bryan answered questions quickly and effectively.
He was very open and always was willing to better explain things in class that weren't quite understood. I also feel that he freely and willingly took his personal experiences to help our class see things in a more personal perspective as well as from a "alumni" view of things.
Even in a Blackboard course, he still somehow manages to use varied teaching strategies.
I do like the open forum for discussion, however, there was not interaction between students and the teacher. It was more of a one post, one response, end of subject.
I like the options of assignments. I have never had a class so tailored to what I was trying to get out of it. Very Effective.

I like how the instructor provided us with additional links in regards to related course material. I also like the feedback given when threads were posted.

His willingness to change the assignments to fit the student's needs.

Sometimes it is hard to convey personality and friendliness through email or internet postings but Dr. Bryan did an awesome job of making my first online class WONDERFUL. He was quick to respond to my concerns or questions and very flexible with meeting my needs. I have nothing but positive comments! He is an excellent instructor.

I learned more than I expected in this class. This course was able to enlighten my perspectives on becoming a teacher. I really enjoyed the field experience and the discussion questions. The only thing I was not pleased with, was the instructor's inadequate responses to discussion questions. He would not always comment on discussion questions. Sometimes it just made me feel like I was on my own. I did not get enough feedback to know if I was on the right track or not. It just seems like whatever I wrote was ok. I received about 2 or 3 responses out of the entire course.

This teacher's methods were very effective. It was mainly a self-teach course however, the teacher was always willing to answer questions.

I like everything the teacher does in this course.

I didn't like how he may comment back in a negative way. Experienced this in the beginning of the semester. I felt that an email should have been sent for something like that. As the semester went on, it got better.

It was a little hard to understand what the requirements were at the beginning, but the instructor responded well to any questions.

See question above.

Absolutely nothing, he was very accommodating to the students' individual needs, varying teaching methods when necessary.

Some of the material was hard to understand under the course information section.

I really can't complain about anything in this class. I love the experience it gave me. I also will be taking with me a lot of knowledge.

Question 21

Essay

What changes, if any, would you like this instructor to make in this course?

Make the forums more like discussions, get students involved with each other.
More feedback on assignments.
I would make it a requirement for students to respond to other classmates threads. I took an ethics course once and I loved it. We were required to make postings by a certain date and then we had about three or fours days to answer a minimum of 4 postings. We were graded on not just the postings we made, but the conversations that we had. A lot of times, you would get so caught up in communicating that we would have responded to more then 4. If that is not possible. I think creating small group discussions would help. The same people are communicating about various topics throughout the semester.
Clarify some of his assignment directions.
I really don't have any recommendations for changes to this course.
Maybe available for one face to face, optional meeting at the beginning of class to clear up any questions about the requirements.
Adapt the assignments to promote better student-student interactions.

Excellent teacher, kept topics timely, even includings subjects from the news and providing a professional opinion.
I think he was a great teacher and gave wonderful feedback when we posted our discussions.
I just wish I would have been able to take this class earlier on in my degree requirements, it helped me attain so much insight into and appreciation for education.
Overall, it was a pretty good class.
Thank you for a wonderful semester!! has been a pleasure
Very good teacher. I would recommend him to anyone!

I'm not sure if this element already exist and I just didn't see it but it would be great to have a listing of everyone in the class with some basic information on everyone. Like for example a list with Name, Age, Educational Background, Home Town, and/ or Current Occupation. Just a quick guide or resource to refer to. (one page with everyone's info, instead of having to click on everyone's bio's from the "introduction week")That may encourage more interaction amongst students. Overall, I loved this class and actually learned a lot more than I expected to. I've already reccommended this course (with Dr. Bryan) to some of my classmates at CNU. He's a wonderful teacher, who has passion and it is obvious that he truly cares about his students and in what he is teaching. -Nicole Boykins

I am very grateful that a course such as EDU 200 is available online. Due to my work schedule I have difficulty at times making my school schedule, especially with classes that require involvement outside the classroom. This class gave me a great opportunity.

Very useful course for students interested in the teaching profession. Will definitely "make or break" your decision!
